Wildlife experts

Mateusz

Mateusz Piesiak has been interested in wild birds since he was a baby, and he has won many photography prizes. He won Young Wildlife Photographer of the Year when he was 15. His parents have helped him travel to wild places. He has travelled to four different continents. While he was in Asia, he took thousands of photos of birds. He has taken photos of other animals since then too.

Steve

Steve Backshall is a wildlife expert who has been interested in animals since he was a child. He grew up on a farm with many animals. After university, he travelled to many countries to observe wild animals. Now he films nature programmes for television. In 2009, Steve and his team discovered a new species in Papua New Guinea – a rat as big as a cat!

Joel

Joel Sartore has been an explorer and wildlife photographer for more than 25 years. He takes photos of different species of endangered animals. Joel often takes photos in zoos, where these endangered animals are looked after and protected. It's easier to take photos in zoos because the animals are not so afraid of humans and they don't get very nervous, run or hide. It's not always easy work, but Joel loves his job.

- 2  You are going to interview one of the people in Activity 1. Write an email to the person.

Jack Sheridan

Jack Sheridan has always dreamt of being an explorer. His hero is Edmund Hillary, who, with his guide Tenzing Norgay, was the first to get to the top of Mount Everest. Jack decided to take a year out before going to university. He wanted to travel, but wasn't sure where to go. He has just succeeded in getting a place on an exciting expedition in Ladakh in the Indian Himalayas. He will camp and do long walks in the low hills, then climb high into the mountains to do scientific research.

'The leader sent me a video that he had recorded on a similar expedition last year. It looks amazing,' said Jack. He is particularly interested in the range of research you can do and is looking forward to studying the stars, the weather and the geography of this beautiful mountainous region. He thinks the local culture will also be fascinating.

'This sort of journey, into remote and challenging country, seems like a great way to test yourself. You have to plan, be resourceful and work hard in a team. I'm going to film myself while I'm there. It's important to enjoy the moment, but I also want to play it back to remember exactly what it felt like to go on the biggest adventure of my life.'

A new planet home?

Anne

This week in our science class we've been talking about what humans would need to live on a new planet. I think the most important thing is that the planet should have a safe oxygen atmosphere – we need to be able to breathe the air! We might have to wear special clothes if the planet is very cold or very hot, but it would be good to not have to wear a mask. If it's safe to breathe the air, it's safe to explore the planet!

Greta

I think the most important thing is to work out how we will build houses on a new planet. If the new planet has got lots of rocks, we might use them to build houses. If the planet has got lots of rivers or seas, we may live on boats. I don't think we will live in buildings like flats. After we choose where people will live, then we should think about where and how children will play and go to school. Or if children should go to the new planet at all!

Eliza

I think Anne is right – it's important that the planet has a safe atmosphere. The right atmosphere would help trees and plants grow too. Scientists on Earth have been growing plants in space for a long time. If we can grow plants on the new planet, we'll have all the food we need! We should also be able to drink the water on the planet. If we have safe food and water, we can do almost anything.

2  For each question, write the correct answer. Write one word for each gap.

Dear Bella,

We have finally (0) found Jax and Minnie on a new planet, and guess what! It (1) _____ very different to Earth! The (2) _____ was OK – not too hot or too cold, but it's totally dark. There were lots (3) _____ familiar flowers and I (4) _____ hear the (5) _____ of a waterfall. Dad thinks we (6) _____ be careful. Although the flowers and trees smelled (7) _____ those on our planet, they might (8) _____ bad for us. I keep thinking (9) _____ you. Where are you? I know you (10) _____ not get this message, but I hope you do!

SEND

FROM Jamie

TO Anne

The new after-school activity club, Kids Play, is becoming very popular. We need to put together an information leaflet to give to parents who have been asking about it. Could you do this, please?

They need to know that lots of the helpers are older children, so it's really fun. Maybe say something like by kids, for kids? It takes place after school Tues–Thurs, but not in the holidays. The cost is £2.50 a session. And list all the great activities we do – painting, football, swimming, etc. Don't forget the end-of-term party!

It would be good to include some comments from current members / helpers. David (age seven) in Ashton says it's great and he'd love to come every day. Susie in Nutgrove has been helping there for four months and made lots of new friends. And a photo showing the kids having fun would be good – something like this one, maybe?

Thanks,
Jamie

2 Read about Matt and Georgia. Who was more effective as a team member? What advice would you give the other?

Matt

I know a lot more about this topic than anyone else in the group. So I told everyone exactly what they had to do. Paul was in our group – he's too quiet, so I said he should just read his book.

Georgia

We started by getting ideas from everyone. Sam couldn't think of one at first, but I reminded him of the project we did last week and then he had lots! We chose the best ideas and each person did what they were best at.

Concerts for children

Concerts for children is a charity that uses music to motivate children who have difficulties with learning. The charity believes that music is essential for everyone and that it is important for children to learn about it. Its aim is to develop the children's skills and self-confidence. It realises that sometimes in places with a lot of poverty, or where children need special help to learn, they can miss out on the chance to experience live music. So the charity sends professional musicians to schools to perform for the children. Schools report that this experience really benefits their pupils. They love listening to the music and finding out from the musicians how it can make their lives happier.

The charity listens to children, too. When it hears children say, 'I wish I could play an instrument', it makes it happen. If a school doesn't have musical instruments or music teachers, the charity either provides these resources or gives the school funding to pay for them. The children practise together and work towards putting on their own concerts for friends and parents. As well as learning a new skill, children also discover how to work in a team and they have a lot of fun. The charity is grateful for all donations. If it had more money, it would be able to help even more children.

- 1 What does the charity encourage children to do?
 A buy music                                      B teach music                                      C enjoy music
- 2 What does the charity believe?
 A that music can help children feel more confident                                      B that music should only be played by professionals                                      C that music will help pay for children's schools
- 3 Who can sometimes miss out on the chance to hear live music?
 A children in big cities with no music teachers                                      B children who live in poverty or need help to learn                                      C children who don't know how to play instruments
- 4 How do the children feel about the concerts the professional musicians perform for them?
 A they don't enjoy the kind of music that is played                                      B they love listening to the music                                      C they want to join the musicians
- 5 What can children learn in music classes?
 A how to do better in their other classes                                      B how to find money for a teacher and instruments                                      C how to use a new skill and work in a team
